

Safe, Savvy & Empowered: Teaching Web Literacy in Your Library

The purpose of Mozilla's Core Web Literacy Curriculum is to provide learners with a basic conceptual understanding of how to read, write, and participate on the web. The Core Activities were written to be self-sufficient and developed from new as well as remixing existing activities with the goal of aligning with the Web Literacy Map.

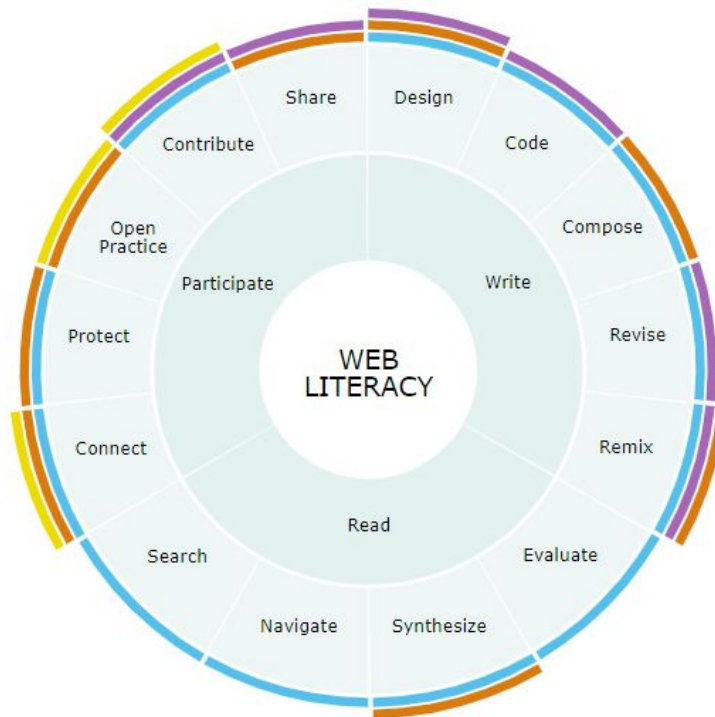

21st Century Skills

Problem-Solving

Communication

Creativity

Collaboration

Web Literacy overview from Mozilla: foundation.mozilla.org/opportunity/web-literacy/

Web Literacy Core Curriculum: foundation.mozilla.org/opportunity/web-literacy/core-curriculum/

Thimble (Mozilla's free online code editor): thimble.mozilla.org

Specific curricula highlighted in this presentation:

Map the Web: mozilla.github.io/web-lit-core/map-the-web/

Design on the Web: mozilla.github.io/web-lit-core/design-on-the-web/

Search Party: mozilla.github.io/web-lit-core/search-party/

Joanna Milner, Multnomah County Library: joannam@multcolib.org

Liza Dyer, Multnomah County Library: lizaj@multcolib.org